G. ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF NONREPRESENTATION

I have read and I understand the following:

- The Child Support Division has lawyers to assist in securing child support but these lawyers are not my lawyers. These lawyers represent the interests of the State of North Dakota and will take actions that they consider necessary and appropriate to work on my case.
- I can hire my own lawyer, at my expense, if I want legal advice or specific legal action or if I want to manage the legal activity on my case.
- The Child Support Division's lawyers may work on my case to establish paternity, if necessary, and to establish and enforce child support and medical support. I must cooperate with them if I want to receive services from the Child Support Division.
- The Child Support Division's lawyers will not be able to help me with residential responsibility (custody) or parenting time (visitation). If I want legal help with these matters, I must hire my own lawyer.

CHILD SUPPORT SERVICES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

This document describes Child Support's services, responsibilities of the individuals receiving the services, fees, accounting procedures, and use and disclosure of the information.

SERVICES

1. Child Support will determine the methods and strategies used to collect support and fulfill its duties.
2. Child Support will make efforts, consistent with its priorities and procedures, to:
  - a. Locate the noncustodial parent;
  - b. Establish paternity;
  - c. Obtain an order establishing child support according to the child support guidelines, if no order exists;
  - d. Obtain or enforce an order for medical support, including health insurance coverage;
  - e. Enforce child support orders;
  - f. Collect ordered spousal support if spousal support and child support are included in the same order and owed to the same parent;
  - g. Collect interest;
  - h. Review cases for potential adjustments to the support amount, either upward or downward, using the child support guidelines. A review of the support amount may be requested by either parent.
3. Child Support will monitor for delinquent payments through an automated system and take enforcement action if payments become delinquent.
4. If the parent who owes support lives in a jurisdiction other than North Dakota, Child Support may refer the case to the other jurisdiction to establish an order or enforce child support payments. Child Support will release any information contained in office records to the other jurisdiction when interjurisdictional action is needed.
5. Child Support attorneys work on child support cases. The attorneys represent the state. They are not your personal attorneys.

No attorney-client relationship exists between you and the Child Support attorney. In the event of a conflict between your interest and the interest of the state, the Child Support attorney will resolve the conflict in the state's favor. If the Child Support attorney becomes aware of a conflict of interest, you will be notified.

Child Support cannot address custody, visitation, or other issues not directly related to child support. If you want legal advice on these issues, desire specific legal action, or want to manage activity on your case, a private attorney may be able to provide you with individualized services.

CASE CLOSURE

- I.
  - a. Upon your written request;
  - b. When Child Support is advised you applied for services in another jurisdiction, or;
  - c. If you are a parent who requested locate-only services, and the services have been provided.
- II.
  - a. If there is no longer a current support obligation, and the past-due amount is under $500 or unenforceable under state law;
  - b. If you applied for services as a custodial parent and Child Support has information that you no longer have legal or physical custody of your child or children;
  - c. If Child Support has been unable to contact you for more than 60 days despite good effort;
  - d. If Child Support cannot obtain jurisdiction over the parent who owes support;
  - e. If the parent who owes support has died and no further action can be taken;

- f. If paternity cannot be established because, for example, genetic testing or the court has excluded the alleged father;
- g. If Child Support has been unable to locate the parent who owes support;
- h. If the parent who owes support has been institutionalized in a psychiatric facility and cannot reasonably be anticipated to pay support for the duration of the child's minority or is incarcerated with a sentence of more than 180 days;
- i. If the parent who owes support has a medically verified disability and no support potential;
- j. If the parent who owes support is a citizen of and lives in a foreign country, does not work for the United States government or for a company with offices in the United States, has no reachable domestic income or assets, and Child Support does not have reciprocity with the foreign country;
- k. If your case has been transferred to a tribal Child Support agency;
- l. If Child Support has documented evidence that you have not cooperated with the program and your cooperation is essential for the next enforcement step. Failure to cooperate includes:
  - (1) Failure to appear at a Child Support office for an appointment or at a court hearing to provide testimony for legal proceedings.
  - (2) Failure to complete and return forms or otherwise provide information needed to service your case.
  - (3) If you are the parent who receives support and fail to report to Child Support payment made directly to you.
  - (4) If you are the parent who receives support and fail to return payments you are not entitled to keep.

Child Support will not close your case for any of these reasons if you contact Child Support within 60 days of the issuance of the closing notice and provide information that will allow Child Support to proceed with establishment or enforcement of a support order. After 60 days you may request Child Support services by completing a new application if changed circumstances would allow Child Support to proceed with establishment or enforcement of a support order.

You may request your case be reopened if new information is available that could lead to the establishment of paternity, establishment or enforcement of a support order, a review and adjustment of the support order, or in accordance with federal regulations found at 45 CFR 303.11.

TAX REFUND OFFSET

1. Child Support may submit information about the parent who owes support to state and federal agencies for tax refund offset. If the parent who owes support is entitled to a tax refund, Child Support may offset (intercept) the tax refund to apply to past-due support.
2. Conditions for submittal for tax refund offset:
  - a. You must have a case receiving full Child Support services;
  - b. There must be a valid order for child support;
  - c. The past-due amount must be at least $500 if owed to the family or $150 if owed to the state;
  - d. Child Support must have a verified social security number for the parent who owes support;
  - e. The past-due amount must be correct. You may be asked to provide documents needed to determine the correct balance such as court orders and payment records from jurisdictions other than North Dakota.
3. There is no guarantee that funds will be collected through tax refund offset.
4. Collections from a joint tax return may be held for up to six months before disbursement.
5. Federal tax refund offset collections are applied to past-due support owed to the state before past-due support owed to the family.
6. If you are the parent who received a tax refund offset payment, you may be personally liable to repay the amount if the offset funds are reversed because of an amended return or because a claim was filed by the spouse of the parent who owes support. The claim may be filed many years later.

ACCOUNTING PROCEDURES

1. Child Support will process payments collected, including endorsing checks, money orders, and drafts.
2. Collections will be applied to support obligations according to federal and state distribution requirements. Collections are applied to current child support and current medical support before other debts unless the collection is from a federal tax refund offset.
3. Child Support is a clearinghouse for collections. If a collection received is received by check and the check bounces or the collection is reversed, the parent who received the funds must repay the amount. The parent who received the funds may authorize Child Support to withhold a reasonable amount from future support payments. The authorization may be given as part of the application process, but it is not required to receive services.

COSTS AND FEES

1. Child Support will charge an annual fee of $35 each federal fiscal year (October 1 through September 30) in which at least $550 is disbursed on a case receiving full services. Child Support will charge a monthly fee of $5 each month in which a payment is disbursed on a case receiving limited services. The fee will be retained from support collected.
2. Child Support reserves the right to charge additional fees. You will be notified at least 30 days in advance of any new fee schedule.
3. You may be required to pay certain court costs.

PARENT RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Complete forms thoroughly and return forms timely to ensure expedient action on your case.
2. Provide required documentation such as certified copies of support orders or payment records.
3. Inform any agent or lawyer, who you may retain, that you are receiving services from Child Support.
4. Notify Child Support of any pleading to establish or modify support filed by you or through a private attorney.
5. Provide information to Child Support that may assist with managing your case.
6. Notify Child Support of changes in your address, social security number, phone number, and employment.
7. If you are the parent who receives support, do not contact the employer of the parent who owes support with questions about payments. Contact Child Support with all questions and concerns.

USE AND DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION

1. Information you provide to Child Support may be disclosed to public officials who require such information in connection with their official duties.
2. Information you provide to Child Support will be used for administration of the program. This may include disclosure of social security numbers of parents and children for various reasons including securing health insurance coverage for children, locating the parent who owes support, and submitting cases for tax refund offset.
